LINCOLN'S PROPHECY.

The prophecy made by President Linof the war is being circulated in printed form among the labor organizations of

It has been a trying hour for the re-public, but I see in the near future a crisis arising that unnerves me and causes me to tremble in fear for the safety of my country. As a result of the war corporations have been enthroned, an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign, by working upon the prejudices of the people, until all the wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the republic is destroyed. I feel in this moment more anxiety for my country than ever before, even in the midst of war. God grant that my suspicious may prove groundthat my suspicions may prove ground-

Thousands of slips have been printed and postal cards with the prophecy on them have been sent broadcast through the mail. No one seems to know who is the author of the movement, but all labor organizations are flooded with the slips and cards.

If it can be demonstrated that the sugar beet can be grown successfully in Eastern Oregon, and we know no reason why it should not, it is possible to add another element to our industrial prosperity. It has been demonstrated in the factories at Alverado, California, and at Grand Island, Nebraska, that sugar can be made in this country much cheaper than it can be made abroad. With the great impetus to business the two-cent bounty gives the industry it can be made be done. to become one of the leading ones of the United States. At the factories in Utah one half the amount of the sugar consumed in the territory will be produced. A late telegram informs us that this fall at Marshalstown, Iowa, another large factory will be started and simultaneously six more institutions will be put in operation in Nebraska, Kansas, and Western Iowa.

If a farmer has a good thing to sell, takes proper measures to let it be known and has good facilities for getting it to market, he will pretty surely obtain a good price for it. There is a market for first-class articles of every kind, especiall articles of feed. Sixty odd million of people consume a vast quantity of eatable every day in the year, and among these millions there are vast numbers who think "the best is good enough for them" and are willing to pay a fair price for what they want. It takes time to get up a solid reputation as a supplier of "All" goods, but once established it is worth a gold mine.

We have been encouraging an offensive, dangerous and alien class of immigrants. We have been using the sponge, absorbing everything good or bad, safe or dangerous, when we should have been using the sieve, to sift out the chaff and worthless stuff from the good grain. We have now not only to check the whole-sale importation of paupers and criminals, but of all elements which do not assimilate with us.

A wonderful feature in modern journalism is the growth of the afternoon papers. "Today's news today" seems to be demanded. Even the morning papers are yielding to the popular de-mands and are publishing evening editions. The truth is the majority of readers have no time to devote to their newspapers until night. Such is the demand for the very latest news that the morning paper is cast aside for the one issued in the evening, which contains not only the best of the news in the morning papers, but likewise the happenings throughout the world up to the hour of going to pree. So perfect, too, is the present method of news gathering that people are enabled to read at supper news of all the important occurrences of the day.

Sir John Macdonald's widow, says the New York Sun, will hereafter be countess or Lady Earnscliffe. It is not yet made known whether her new rank will extend to her heirs, but it is thought that without doubt her son, Hugh Macdonald, will succeed to the title, because Last November a gentleman from the such has been the custom following the patent of an Earldom. However, if she has also obtained a subordinate title as Magnitude of Truck Farming.

Truck farming is distinct from mar ket gardening. It is carried on at a distance from market, water and rail transportation being necessary.

Upward of $100,000,000 is invested in are employed in this industry 216,765 men, 9,254 women and 14,874 children, aided by 75,866 horses and mules, and $8,971,206.70 worth of implements. The Norfolk district, embracing 45,375 acres, shipped products valued at $7,692,859; south Atlantic district, 111,741 acres. products $13,183,516; Mississippi valley. 86,180 acres, products $4,979,783.

Nearly 75 per cent. of the truck produced in the United States comes from a belt of country along the Atlantic coast lying east of a line drawn from Augusta Me., to Macon, Ga.; from southern Georgia, Alabama and Florida; along the north and sonth lines of railroad in the Mississippi valley from the Gulf to Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, and and Ohio.

More or less of the truck, however, is produced in all the states. The following figures show the total acreage of the leading vegetables grown upon truck farms of the United States: Asparagus, 87,979; beaus (string or snap), 12,607; cabbage, 77,094; kale, 2,962; spinach. Tiles for Decoration.

There is nothing more satisfactory than tiles, either from an æsthetic or ntilitarian view. Every one is familiar nowadays with tiles as facing to fire-places and as hearths. The greatest ob-jection to tiling is its cost. It is not at all a difficult matter to set tiles. One of the first essentials is that they be persions and thickness of those of the same nothing but size and make. A facing of tiles the depth of an ordinary wainscot is very purchased by the quantity the average price of a plain white tile six inches square is only ten cents each.

A decorated or shaded tile may be purchased from twenty-five cents upward. A decorated tile alternating with a plain tile gives a very pretty effect. A medley of colors is not effective. Blue and white tiling is always pretty for a room facing. A piece of this work above the kitchen sink seems to brighten up a very dark and unattractive room. Nowhere is tiling prettier or more useful than in the bathroom, where it may form the facing of the walls and even the flooring. American manufacturers are making very attractive tiles in relief and in plain shaded effects.—New York Trib-

A Bishop Wheeling a Barrow.

A story is told of Canon Creighton during his residence in Worcester. One day, passing down a street in one of the poorer quarters of the town, he saw an old woman endeavoring to wheel a heavy barrow filled with coal up an alley. The wheel of the barrow would not, in spite of all her feeble efforts, be forced over the edge of the parapet between the opening and the street. Canon Creighton saw the situation, deposited his umbrella in a doorway and took the old creature out of the shafts of the barrow. Then he addressed himself to the task, and in a moment more the load of fuel was trundling briskly down the alley in front of the future bishop,—Exchange,
